“ I cannot believe it has been 3 years already, and 6 months since you and John are finally reunited. This world is extremely painful and so beautiful and the same time. All I know is that you truly loved him and he truly loved you, and that I am beyond grateful for to have experienced both of your presence in my life. Looking forward to seeing your beautiful face again, you are and always will be an angel....an inspiration for anyone who ever got to know a sliver of who you truly are. Love you sweetheart. Wish I could have gotten to know you both more, to spend more time with you both here. Heaven needed you home.love you with every fiber of my being💕

“ I ve known you since 5th grade and I wish I had the chance to say a proper good bye . I'm sure your kids are gonna grow up to become wonderful ppl. I pray everyday they get the person who did this. We all love you very much.

“ My Sweet D,
I don't even know where to begin....we had some great times together that's for sure. I hate it that we had lost touch and now I'll never see your beautiful face ever again. We both had rough lives and saw each other through some tough times. You sure as hell didn't deserve this and I hope whoever did this rots in hell. I know Zach was waiting to guide you on your journey to get your wings because Simple Man is playing as I'm writing this right now. 🙏 I pray God watches over your family and you get the justice you deserve. Fly high with the angels my friend. Much love ❤️

“ Deanna this world is going to have a big empty hole in it without you! I still can't believe this is real. You are such a beautiful and amazing person and you did not deserve this or half the things you have gone through in your life I am beyond blessed that i got the chance to know you on a deeper level our connection was crazy and our friendship a blast! I will miss you every single day but i will never stop loving you and I know your out there watching over us all now thank you for all that you have done for my life your precious to me you always will be
