“ You matter, you are loved, your children love you, they need you and they always have needed you. I wish you could have seen just how much before you went away. It’s left us broken. I’ll never let our boys forget your love, I’ll take care of them always. You can rest now, but please send the boys little reminders that you’re watching, watch over and guide them along the way. This is the hardest thing I’ve ever had to do, is say goodbye to you, so I won’t, we WILL see you again one day because this can’t be how this story ends .. it just can’t be.

“ I left your life while you were still young but I still have pictures from Sea World, camping, birthdays, and Halloween. Most of those are some of my happiest. May you rest in peace and protect your family from above.

“ Jonathan is as one of the best. He had a heart of gold with demons that couldn't be beat. He had the potential to change the world. This is the saddest way to an end, but now he doesn't have to fight anymore. He can be at peace. We will all miss him until the end of time

“ Where to start. You came into this family I believe you were 17 when you and Brittney started dating. You both made 3 children one who has angel wings and two beautiful boys. You were always so funny making jokes and being goofy. You were also serious at times. But we all know you were a Bengals fan, always blinged out in your Bengals clothes when they played and even when they were not playing. We have had so many talks along life's journey. You will be so missed and never forgotten. Rest In Peace. Love you Bille Jean and Bub Ash
