“ I remember when Sallie was in Jr High and I showed up for some “invite someone to school” day (Parent,sibling,grandparents or something... not really sure lol) and she was sitting with her friends when she saw me and our mom walk into the cafeteria and she smiled this HUGE smile of pure excitement but in the very same second she got all awkward and tried to play it cool with her friends. We had lunch together there and I met some of her friends. Then we hung out for recess and It was an awesome day that i will forever hold onto. Another memory that I love (where the picture for this page was taken) is when Sallie had got her Drivers Temps and I let her drive my Truck and she kept yelling at me because i was acting a fool while she was trying to pay attention to the road lol glad i managed to get a smile out of her for the picture though. Lol

Love ya Sallie Belle. Miss ya always.

“ There was a day Paupau brought you three over to my new house and I made kool aide and Paupau went down to the basement to play the guitar. Well I was out and y'all wanted some kool aide but it was a 2 gallon jug and y'all dropped it. When I came home, Sallie was in the kitchen trying her hardest to clean up the mess. She had gotten the mop out and everything. Bless her little heart. Thinking of you, Sallie, will always make me smile. I love you!
